Report on First Aid and Medical Emergency Training Program

Date: 31st August 2018

Organized by: NSS Unit, Sri Arvind Mahila College, Patna

In Association with: Bihar Red Cross Society

On 31st August 2018, the NSS unit of Sri Arvind Mahila College, Patna, in collaboration with the Bihar Red Cross Society, organized a comprehensive training program for students on first aid and medical emergency techniques. The session aimed to equip students with vital skills to manage medical emergencies effectively.

Training Highlights

- Medical Emergency Techniques: The program covered essential first aid skills, including respiratory assistance and artificial heart pumping (CPR). These techniques are crucial for stabilizing patients in emergency situations until professional help arrives.
- Practical Demonstrations: Professionals from the Bihar Red Cross Society provided hands-on demonstrations of each technique, enabling students to learn through observation and practice. This practical approach ensured that students could understand and apply the techniques confidently.

Key Participants

- Program Officers: Dr. Geeta Kumari and Dr. Reeta Singh, who coordinated the event, highlighted the importance of emergency readiness among young students.
- Trainers from Bihar Red Cross Society: Certified professionals led the training sessions, bringing expertise and experience to ensure students received thorough instruction.

Outcome

The training program was a valuable learning experience for students, who gained confidence in administering first aid and handling medical emergencies. This knowledge empowers them to act swiftly and effectively in critical situations, both within the college and in the community.
