On June 2, 2022, Sri Arvind Mahila College, Patna, in collaboration with the Zoology department and NSS (National Service Scheme), successfully organized a Free Health Check-Up and Voluntary Blood Donation Camp. The event, which was held as a part of the college's ongoing efforts to promote health awareness and social responsibility, received enthusiastic participation from students, faculty, and local community members.

The camp was designed to provide essential health screenings and medical advice to those in need. Volunteers from both the college and the medical community offered a range of services, including general health check-ups, blood pressure monitoring, blood sugar tests, and consultations on basic healthcare. The goal was to make healthcare more accessible to individuals who may not typically have the resources for regular check-ups.

A significant part of the event was the voluntary blood donation drive, which aimed to encourage students and staff to contribute to saving lives. The response was overwhelming, as many participants came forward to donate blood, highlighting the collective spirit of giving back to society.

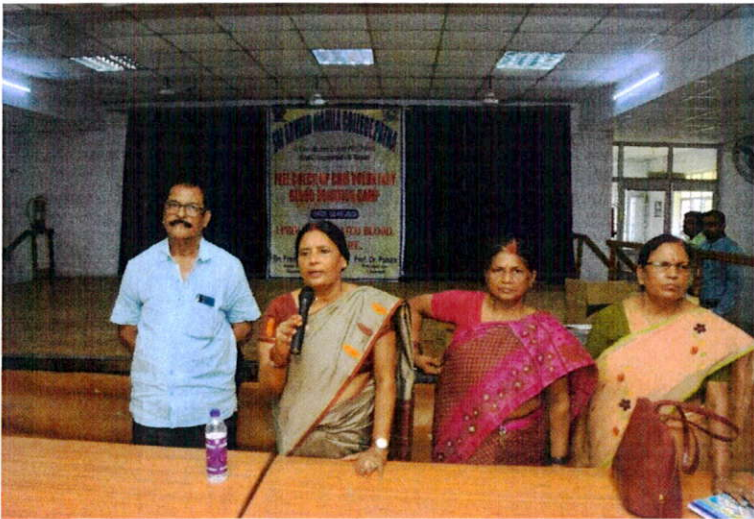

The event, accredited by NAAC with a B+ grade and organized under the auspices of Patliputra University, Patna, underscored the college's commitment to fostering academic excellence and social responsibility. Such initiatives promote health awareness and instill a sense of community service among students, empowering them to contribute positively to society.

The camp's success was marked by the active involvement of NSS volunteers, faculty members, and healthcare professionals. It demonstrated the institution's collective effort to support the welfare of the local community and its role in shaping a more compassionate and health-conscious generation.
